Set in the year 2019, a series of catastrophic earthquakes strike the Pacific Northwest in a violent fury that terrorizes the population and rocks their world. The ensuing flooding from tsunamis causes devastating destruction to entire coastal cities, urban infrastructure and farmland, triggering a humanitarian crisis. While survivors cling to life, emergency responders show extraordinary bravery in their rescue efforts, risking their own lives to extract victims from the rubble of collapsed and burning buildings. A pragmatic relationship develops between the United States and Canada where co-operation and assistance override politics and international conflicts. The co-ordinated, organized effort by the army, air force, veterans and volunteers is a marvel to behold. Dramatic rescues and the tragic loss of lives will tug at your heart strings. Yet hope springs eternal, inspired by the courage and kindness of countless ordinary citizens who give their all to help their neighbours in any way they can. Readers will benefit from practical survival strategies outlined in this documentary fiction that go beyond “flashlights and water”. The motto “BE PREPARED” is not one to be taken lightly. How long can you survive without, power, communication, food and shelter in the aftermath of a megathrust earthquake? That will depend on you.
